

LUCY BURNS

Partner

Lucy Burns is a Partner at Billingsley Company in Dallas. Lucy is responsible for the company's 5 million square foot office portfolio; this work includes constructing office buildings, leasing space, marketing, property management and financing assets.

Lucy has focused on building communities that deliver outstanding amenities and quality service to companies of all sizes. Since 2014, Lucy has overseen the construction of 21 office buildings. During this time, she leased and built headquarters to 7-Eleven, Brinker International and Smoothie King amongst others.

Lucy began her career in New York at Lehman Brothers and then Groupe Arnault followed by an office repositioning role for the Ratkovich Company in Los Angeles. Lucy received her undergraduate degree from Davidson College and her graduate degree from Columbia University. Lucy lives in Dallas with her husband and four children.